Marietta Crichton Stuart on 'The third Marquess of Bute and his impact on Falkland and St Andrews'

7 p.m. Wednesday 11 March 2020

at the Chapel Royal, Falkland Palace KY15 7BY

(by kind permission of The National Trust for Scotland)

All welcome, retiring collection.

Note there is a flight of stairs up to the Chapel Royal: moreover you are advised to bring a torch as you will probably be exiting the property via the turret door on the lawn.

Marietta Crichton Stuart's contributions to our lecture series are much looked forward to. Formerly on the production staff of The Guardian, she has devoted her energies since retirement to her work as Archivist to the family and Estate papers and as a historian. She is a trustee of the Falkland Stewardship Trust and has an unparalleled knowledge of the House of Falkland, Falkland Palace and the nineteenth and twentieth century histories of her family.

John Patrick Crichton-Stuart, third Marquess of Bute (1847–1900)

was a man of many talents and many interests, who used his enormous wealth to fund a massive programme of building. Succeeding to the marquessate at six months old, he caused a stir by converting to Roman Catholicism at the age of 21. He purchased the Falkland estate in 1887. Marietta's talk will cover the story of Lord Bute's years as Keeper of Falkland Palace and Rector of the University of St Andrews – his plans, the challenges, what he achieved and his legacy.
